DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 3, 4, 5, 10 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Suzuki (U.S. 2002/0150722 A1).

See Example 1 and Table 3 of the reference. Example 1 anticipates the Rz/Ra, Ra, and Sm values of the instant claims.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 2, 6-9 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Suzuki (U.S. 2002/0150722 A1).

The reference teaches the claimed numerical ranges as noted above and the formation of a roughened surface by a particle filled resin layer that prevents glare. The 60 degree glossiness of the instant invention is taken as being inherent in the example of the reference as the same low glare conditions of the instant specification are taught as being desirable in the reference. The instant invention claims an antiglare film on a LCD screen, on both sides of a transparent substrate and in use with an antireflection screen. All of these are conventional uses of antiglare screens. It would have been obvious to use the antiglare screen of Suzuki in any of these conventional applications.

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to William P. Watkins III whose telephone number is 703-308-2420.
